

EPISODE 22: SHOW NOTES AND ACTION ITEMS

In this episode you heard Joe Campbell, Senior Manager for Applications Development at Universal Robots. Joe has a long history in robotics and is uniquely qualified to talk about the impact of collaborative robots in the industry and on UR's education initiatives. Joe also provided a video, shot at Darex, a manufacturer of knife sharpeners in Oregon, about the free UR Academy modules and how they helped 26-year-old Brittany Mohrman win a promotion from operator to robot technician.

Your action item today is to gain more familiarity with cobots. One thing you can do is take one of the free e-learning modules in the UR Academy. Each module requires less than 90 minutes. Another helpful resource is this article on the use of cobots in manufacturing.

And finally, you have just got to see Dr. Merritt Moore, quantum physicist and professional ballet dancer, who before the pandemic had no idea that her only dance partner for the foreseeable future would be a cobot. This didn't stop her from turning the world of dance on its head and creating beautiful and unique performances with her new robot partner.